

SACRED WOMENS CIRCLE

Winter Solstice

Date: December 21, 2025

Time: 5 - 8 pm

Location: Lindsay Lake Farms, Musquodoboit Valley

As the longest night of the year approaches, we gather to honor the quiet power of winter and the turning of the wheel towards the light. The Winter Solstice calls us to rest, reflect, and renew. It is a sacred time to let go, to plant seeds of intention, and to reconnect with ourselves, each other, and the energies of nature.

Join us at Lindsay Lake Farms for an intimate, nurturing evening where we'll come together as women in a circle under the vast night sky. Through sharing stories, we'll support each other in releasing what no longer serves us and setting intentions for the year ahead.

As we gather, we honor the cycles of nature that mirror our own lives. Just as the earth pauses to rest, we give ourselves permission to do the same, with no expectations, only acceptance. This evening will be a time to fill your spirit, connect deeply with like-hearted women, and emerge refreshed, ready to embrace the light that is returning.

Let us hold space for one another as we honor this sacred solstice night.
